

Society of Professional Journalists Award 2015

James R. Taylor

Greta's parcel arrived the other day with the award she arranged for me, thank you beloved! I had written a memoir of my years of connection with that counter-cultural bazaar of goods and ideas that was the Cosmic Aeroplane, which appeared in CATALYST last July.

She submitted it the Society of Professional Journalists and this award was among fifteen garnered by CATALYST that evening, among them several for Alice Toler's work.

Never enough room in an article to contain every precious word the writer offers, and so my remembrances of several key (for me, memoir remember...) people were cut and I'd just like to say a special thanks to Jane Shurtleff, Lyn Dalebout, Robert Firmage and Bonnie Fox.

PS: Michael Evans will this overly-arty image do?

Michael Evans Congratulations! All honor to Neil Passey for his Cosmic Lady image:

Link to 1978 Comic Aeroplane Calendar featuring the Cosmic Lady

https://cosmicaeroplane.files.wordpress.com/2013/06/blue_lady00w.jpg

The Cosmic Aeroplane Memorabilia site was Steve Jones' idea.

I processed and restored the photos, which helped make the CATALYST article look so nice, and am happy to be bringing Steve's vision into the present!

Image and slightly-corrected text from James R. Taylor's Facebook page.